GOVERNOR COX INDICTS "SENATORIAL CABAL" IN HIS SPEECH OF ACCEPTANCE

We are at a time which calls for straight thinking, straight talking and straight acting. This is no time for wabbling.

In the midst of war the present senatorial cabal, led by Senators Lodge, Penrose and Smoot, was formed.

Superficial evidence of loyalty to the President was deliberate in order that the great rank and file of their party, faithful and patriotic to the very core, might not be offended.

Underneath this misleading exterior, conspirators planned and plotted, with bigoted zeal. With victory to our arms they delayed and obstructed the work of peace.

BEFORE THE COUNTRY KNEW, YEA, BEFORE THESE MEN THEMSELVES KNEW THE DETAILS OF THE COMPOSITE PLAN FORMED AT

THE PEACE TABLE, THEY DECLARED THEIR OPPOSITION TO IT. THEY VIOLATED EVERY CUSTOM AND EVERY CONSIDERATION OF DECENCY BY PRESENTING A COPY OF THE DOCUMENT (TREATY) PROCURED FROM ENEMY HANDS.

Senator Harding's pledge of policy in behalf of the party, Governor Cox says:

"This can mean but one thing—a separate peace with Germany."

"This would be the most disheartening event in civilization since the Russians made their separate peace with Germany, and infinitely more unworthy on our part than it was on that of the Russians. They were threatened with starvation and revolution had swept their country.

We fought the war together, and now before the thing is through it is proposed to enter into a separate peace with Germany!

Since the last national conventions of the two great parties, a world war has been fought, historic, unprecedented. The very soul of America was touched as never before. What America did needs no reiteration here. History will acclaim it—poets will find it an inspiration throughout the ages. And yet there is not a line in the Republican platform that breathes an emotion of pride or recites our national achievement.

How ungenerous, how ungracious all of this is; how unfair that a mere group of leaders should so demean themselves in the name of the party of Lincoln and McKinley and Roosevelt.

Dayton, O., August 7.—Failed as a candidate in whose selection "neither midnight combinations nor plutocratic cabals were instrumental," Governor James M. Cox was formally notified today by Senator Robinson of Arkansas, chairman of the notification committee, that he had been chosen by the Democratic National Convention as the party's presidential nominee.

In his speech of acceptance Governor Cox said in part:

"Chairman Robinson, and members of the Notification Committee: The message which you bring from the great conference of progressive thought assembled under the formal auspices of the Democratic party inspires within me a pride and an appreciation which I cannot voice. At the same time I am mindful of the responsibility which this function now officially places upon me. It is not the difficult thing to know what we ought to do; the sense of right and wrong has been given with Divine equality. The mistakes of history are the result of weakness in the face of tempting interests. I thank God, therefore, that I take up the standard of Democracy a free man, unfettered by promises and happy in the untrammeled opportunity to render a service in the name of government that will hold for it the confidence which it deserves.

"We are in a time which calls for straight thinking, straight talking and straight acting. This is no time for wabbling.

Another Negro Serving Time for Crimes Just Confessed

(By Associated Press.)

Washington, August 6.—William Henry Campbell, a negro, under arrest here charged with the murder of Mrs. Gertrude Harrison Mann, has confessed, according to the police, he was the man who attacked four women in and near Washington last June, precipitating race riots which continued for several days, or until regular army forces were called out.

For two of the attacks to which Campbell has confessed, Louis Randall, another negro, is serving a forty-five year sentence in the Atlanta penitentiary, his sentence of death having been commuted by President Wilson.

For a third of the assaults, Forest Egan, another negro, is serving twenty years in the Maryland state penitentiary.

They were cheered tumultuously.

Dayton, O., August 7.—National Democracy today took up the battle gauge with its Republican opponent for America's greatest political prize, the presidency.

With today's formal notification of, and acceptance by Governor Cox of the Democratic presidential nomination, the national campaign was on between the two dominant parties, except only for similar ceremonies next Monday at Hyde Park, N. Y., for Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Former Ambassador to Mexico, Fletcher, Says It's Dangerous to Country.

Article Twenty-one Branded a Betrayal of Monroe Doctrine

(By Associated Press.)

Shade Gap, Ga., August 7.—Attacking article twenty-one of the league of nations covenant as a betrayal rather than a safeguard of the Monroe Doctrine, Henry P. Fletcher, former Ambassador to Mexico, in an address today at a reunion here declared that the democratic party, through its indorsement of the league covenant, was seeking to set up "a vain, visionary and vanishing scheme of world reign and interference, based on arbitrary disposition of the lands and peoples of the earth."

"The treaty of Versailles, as signed by the President, submitted to the Senate and indorsed by the democratic national convention," the former ambassador asserted, "absolutely and completely destroys the great charter of peace with freedom which we venerate under the name of the Monroe Doctrine."

DENVER STRIKE TO END

Strikers Vote to Return To Work if Company Will Accept All Who Walked Out.

(By Associated Press.)

Denver, Colo., August 7.—Striking tramway men at a meeting today voted to call off the strike which has caused rioting here the last two days if the company would permit them to return to work in a body and send the strike breakers out of town.

W. C. Williams, counsel for the union, was instructed to confer with company officials and report to a meeting of the men at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Two hundred soldiers arrived here early today from Fort Logan, to maintain order.

The call for federal troops was issued last night when a mob attacked the East Denver car barns and was repelled with rifle fire. Three men were killed and a dozen persons, including women, girls and boys, were wounded.

The rioting of last night brought the casualties resulting from the strike disturbance to five dead and fifty known injured. Heavy property loss to the tramway company and the Denver Post also resulted.

DEVELOPMENTS IN KIDNAPPING CASE EXPECTED

Crank Held Confesses That Band of Men Have Coughlin Child.

(By Associated Press.)

Philadelphia, August 7.—Further important developments in the Coughlin kidnapping case were expected by the authorities today.

The twenty-four hour period given the captors of the thirteen-month-old child by Augusto Pasquale, held as an accomplice in the kidnapping, for his return expires at 4 o'clock this afternoon, and unless the boy is restored to his parents, Pasquale, according to the police, said he would tell all he knows.

"Tell them," he is quoted as saying, "that if they don't bring back the kid within twenty-four hours, I'll squeal. I can't stand this much longer."

PLAN TO HELP POLES ADOPTED BY THE ALLIES

Details of Tentative Program Carefully Guarded by The Officials.

(By Associated Press.)

Washington, August 7.—The special note on the actual political situation in Poland which the foreign office at Warsaw has dispatched to the American government has not yet been received.

The only dispatch from Poland today it was said at the State Department, was a somewhat garbled one from the American legation telling of slight successes by the Poles against the Soviet forces.

Exchanges between Washington, London and Paris on the Polish crisis are continuing, officials stated, but they declined to discuss their purport or to say whether the views of the American, French and British governments were in accord.

The allied nations are known to have suggested a tentative program for aiding the Poles but its details are being carefully guarded.

GOVERNOR COX

convention chartered our course in the open seas of the future, sensed the spirit of the hour and phrased it with clarity and courage.

"In the midst of war the present senatorial cabal, led by Senators Lodge, Penrose and Smoot, was formed. Superficial evidence of loyalty to the president was deliberate in order that the great rank and file of their party, faithful and patriotic to the very core, might not be offended. But underneath this misleading exterior, conspirators planned and plotted with bigoted zeal. With victory to our arms they delayed and obstructed the works of peace. If deemed useful to the work in hand no artifice for interfering with our constitutional peace-making authority was rejected. Before the country knew, yea, before these men themselves knew the details of the composite plan, formed at the peace table, they declared their opposition to it. Before the treaty was submitted to the senate in the manner the constitution provides, they violated every custom and every consideration of decency by presenting a copy of the document, procured unblushingly from enemy hands, and passed it into the printed record of senatorial proceedings. From that hour dated the enterprise of throwing the whole subject into a technical discussion, in order that the public might be confused.

"Senator Harding, as the candidate of the party, and Senator Johnson are as one on this question, and, as the latter expresses it, the Republican party is committed both by platform in the abstract and by its candidate in specification.

"Senator Harding makes this new pledge of policy in behalf of his party: 'I promise you formal and effective peace so quickly as a Republican congress can pass the declaration for a Republican executive to sign.'

"This means but one thing—a separate peace with Germany!

"This plan would not only be a piece of bungling diplomacy, but plain, unadulterated dishonesty, as well.

"No less an authority than Senator Lodge said, before the heat of the recent controversy, that to make peace except in company with the Allies would 'brand us everlastingly with dishonor and bring ruin to us.'

"In short, America, refusing to enter the League of Nations (now already established by twenty-nine nations) and bearing and deserving the contempt of the world, would submit an entirely new project. This act would either be regarded as arrant madness or attempted international boresdom.

"They term the League of Nations publican leaders, obsessed with a determination to win the presidential election, have attempted to satisfy too many divergent views.

"They term the League of Nations a military alliance, which, except for their opposition, would envelop our country, when, as a matter of truth, the subject of a League of Nations has claimed the best thought of America for years, and the League to Enforce Peace was provided over by so distinguished a Republican as ex-President Taft, who, before audiences in every section advocated the principle and the plan of the present League. They charge experimentation, when we have as historical precedent the Monroe Doctrine. They hypocritically claim that the League of Nations will result in our boys being drawn into military service but they fail to realize that every high school youngster in the land knows that no treaty can override our Constitution, which reserves to Congress and to Congress alone, the power to declare war.

"These are fateful times. Organized government has a definite duty all over the world. The house of civilization is to be put in order. The supreme issue of the century is before us and the nation that halts and delays is playing with fire. The finest impulses of humanity, rising above national lines merely seek to make another horrible war impossible.

"It is planned now to make this impossible. A definite plan has been agreed upon.

"We have domestic problems to be settled. They are most pressing. Many conditions growing out of the war will not and should not continue. The work of readjustment will call for our best energy, ingenuity, unselfishness and devotion to idea that it is the general welfare we must promote. One of the first things to be done is the repeal of war taxes.

"Federal taxation must be heavily reduced, and it will be done at once, if a Democratic administration is chosen in November. Without hampering essential national administrative departments, by the elimination of all others and strict economy everywhere, national taxes can be reduced in excess of two billion dollars. The incomes from war-made fortunes, those of non-producers and those derived from industries that exist by unfair privileges may be able to carry their present load, but taxes on the earnings of the wage-earner, of the salaried and professional man, of the agricultural producer and of the small tradesman should be sharply modified.

"In the analysis of Government, as the events of today enable us to penetrate the subject, we see the difference between the old and the progressive kinds of thinking.

"This difference bears directly on profiteering, which is today the most sinister influence in American life. It is not a new thing in America. The tribe of profiteers has simply multiplied under the favoring circumstances of war. If I am called to service as president means will be found, if they do not already exist, for compelling these exceptions to the great mass of square dealing American business men, to use the same yardstick of honesty that governs most of us in our dealings with our fellowmen, or in language that they may understand, to suffer the penalty of criminal law.

"Government, however, should provide the means in the treatment of its employees, to keep in touch with conditions and to rectify wrongs.

"Agriculture is but another form of industry. In fact, it is the basis of industry because upon it depends the food supply. It therefore devolves upon government, through intensive scientific co-operation to help in maintaining as nearly as possible the existing balance between food production and consumption. Farming will not inspire individual effort unless profits, all things considered, are equal to those in other activities. An additional check to depleted ranks in the fields would be establishment of modern state rural school codes.

"Any discussion of the question of food supply leads very quickly to the closely related matter of transportation. There is no one thing which brings us so intermittently to critical conditions than the insufficiency of our transportation facilities. Both the railroads and the public are to blame.

There has been no material addition to the total mileage in the last ten years, and the increase in terminations has been much less than required.

"For more than forty years before Woodrow Wilson was elected president in 1912, a reform of our banking and currency system had been almost universally demanded and had been year after year deferred or refused by the stand-pat element of the Republican party in obedience to orders.

"The Federal Reserve act was originated, advocated and made a law by a Democratic president and congress, against the bitter protests of the Republican stand-patters, who almost without exception voted against it.

"I am convinced after considerable study of the subject that the expense of the government can without loss of efficiency, be reduced to a maximum of four billion dollars, including sinking fund and interest on the national debt. When we enter the League of Nations, we should at the same time diminish our cost for armament.

"Many elements have made our republic enduring; not least of which is a sustained gratitude. The richest traditions of our land are woven from historic threads that tell the bravery of our soldiers of every war. Never in all time will the performance of our soldiers in the late war be surpassed.

"The women of America, in emotion and constructive service, measured up during the war to every requirement, and emergency exacted much much of them.

"They are entitled to the privilege of voting as a matter of right and because they will be helpful, in maintaining wholesome and patriotic policy.

"There will be no attempt in this campaign to compete by dollars with our opposition. There is unrest in the country; our people have passed through a trying experience. We want the dawn and the dews of a new morning. We want happiness in the land, the feeling that the square deal among men and between men and government is not to be interfered with by a purchase preference. We want a change from the old industrial world where the man who toiled was assured 'a full dinner pail' as his only lot and portion. But how are we to make the change? Which way shall we go? We stand at the forks of the road and must choose which to follow. One leads to a higher citizenship, a freer expression of the individual and a fuller life for all. The other leads to reaction, the rule of the few over the many and the restriction of the average man's chances to grow upward.

"The leaders opposed to Democracy promise to put the country 'back to normal.' This can only mean the so-called normal of former reactionary administrations, the outstanding feature of which was a pittance for farm produce and a small wage for a long day of labor.

"I accept the nomination of our party obedient to the Divine Sovereign of all peoples, and hopeful that by trust in Him the way will be shown for helpful service."

thousands, representing the party's leadership and rank and file, joined today in the ceremony presenting their leader to the American electorate.

All states, territories and possessions were represented in the day's program, which culminated in Governor Cox's address of acceptance stating the Democratic cause.

Governor Cox early today abandoned his plan to have an insert in his address. He announced there would be none, and that the speech as sent in advance to the press would stand. Dayton gave itself over to its first presidential notification. A half holiday was in force for the ceremonies this afternoon at the Montgomery County fair grounds, while Ohio and other states sent thousands by special trains, automobiles and other conveyances.

Marching delegations went through the streets with blaring bands long before the hour, one o'clock, set for the formal parade to the fair grounds.

The formal program at the grounds was brief, except for the acceptance address of Governor Cox, which was released for publication throughout the country at 11 o'clock, local time, everywhere.

"Dear Sir: The other day in passing through Washington C. H. I had occasion to observe the detour signs which you have set there to guide traffic around the work under construction on Inter-County Highway No. 50.

"I feel that if all detours were as well marked as this one, that the complaints received would be reduced to the minimum and you can rest assured the Department sincerely appreciates your co-operation in eliminating as far as possible, the annoying feature frequently attending construction work.

OLD SNAKE BITE CAUSING TROUBLE AFTER 30 YEARS

Mr. Bert Wilson, prominent farmer in Fayette county, residing about six miles north of Leesburg, is the victim of a most peculiar form of suffering. About thirty years ago he was bitten by a rattlesnake. Later the wound healed, but in the intervening time he has had two operations involving scraping the bone of the leg, which seems infected. For several years now the wound has not troubled him, until about two months ago, when he began to notice the old symptoms. Now he is dependent upon crutches and is expecting to go to the hospital for another operation.—Leesburg Citizen.

The "Party Nominee"

We hear a great deal these days about the "party nominee." Republican voters and democratic voters are lining up enthusiastically behind "their" nominee.

They take just as much credit to themselves and are as well pleased with the candidates as they would be if they had had a part in naming the candidate. In fact the overwhelming majority of partisan voters actually think they did play some part in the nomination.

The partisan voters don't stop long enough, however, to think that they were a part of the nominating—they just take it for granted that they were and let it stop at that. It has always been done the way it is done now and it never occurs to the partisan voters that there is any other way or that they are not having full opportunity to express their preferences.

If the partisan voters would stop to think they would realize at once that they were not having a say-so in choosing the party candidate.

Maybe it is a little too much to hope that before another presidential election comes around we will have nation-wide presidential primaries so the party voters can express themselves as to the nominee. If so then we will have a party nominee in fact and the voters can, with some reason talk about our "party nominee."

In the meantime it is rather amusing to hear the enthusiastic partisans talking about "our nominee" and "our candidate."

"Trust Busting"

After years of noisy political agitation, lecturing by chautauqua spellbinders and ineffective endeavor by the legislative bodies of the several states and the nation, to "bust the trusts" there is now, strange to say, when that agitation seems to be quieting down, noticeable evidence of the trusts breaking down of their own weight or their own accord.

Some of the big trusts are apparently abandoning the plan which requires a centralization of effort at one point and are establishing separate units at many different points throughout the country. While, at first, that would indicate a growth of the trust or centralized, combination of effort plan yet considered more carefully, it seems, to warrant the hope at least that it is the beginning of the disintegration process.

Local organizations, especially in the rural districts, have done much to compel attention, interfere with the plan of rushing everything to the one common center and compelled many tremendous business combinations to deal with or through these local organizations or to establish units more closely in touch with each particular community. Especially in the meat and provision markets is this abandonment of the one big central unit idea evident.

Governor Cox's Speech

Those who expected an emphatic announcement by Governor James M. Cox, in his speech of acceptance, have no cause to be disappointed. The standard bearer of the democratic party, in unmistakable language, declares that he stands squarely for the peace treaty and the league of nations.

The speech of acceptance is a declaration of defiance, a challenge to his political opponents and a merciless indictment of those men in the Senate whom he groups together as a "senatorial cabal."

The difference between the nominees of the two great political parties could not be made more plain than it is by the acceptance speeches.

Senator Harding's acceptance speech was a pleasing address, defining the attitude of the party, his interpretation of the platform, ably and skillfully phrased so as to give offense to none of the differing elements within the ranks of his party. It was a masterful attempt by a polished speaker to bring harmony and peace in the ranks of his political followers.

Governor Cox's speech of acceptance is the emphatic challenge of the fighter who declares his position regardless of the views of his opponents either within or without the ranks of the party.

It is not only a challenge to those who differ with him. It is an attack, launched with all the force he can command, full at his opponents and will end all hope of a quiet campaign. It means that Senator Harding must accept the challenge to battle and fight to secure the honors he seeks.

POETRY FOR TODAY

A VIVID FACE

Your face is sensitive as some clear spring Agileam with wavering flecks of sun that strew
With gold its living beryl, dartling through
The fringing fern and violets that cling About its brink. While sudden as the wing
Of the oriole and tanager that view
In its pure glass their forms of flame-bright hue,
Each vivid thought your eyes are mirroring.
And sometimes when like petals of wild rose
That fall with delicate rippling of the front
Jop on your cheeks with mantling
lustre glows
From hidden depths of feeling swiftly mount Fresh crystal pulsings of such tenderness
As angel's trouble of the springs confess.

LARRIMER LAUNDRY

WE TAKE THE WASHING OUT OF
WASHINGTON HOMES.

BOTH PARTIES HIDE
LACK OF ISSUE IN EXPENSE FUND TALK

Interest in Campaign is in Hands of Governor Cox.

Public Unimpressed with Contest, Which, So Far is Without Outstanding Personality

Washington, August 7.—In the absence of other issues the Democrats and Republicans are jawing at each other a good deal about campaign contributions and other aspects of money. Thoughtful persons must wish that the candidates would discover something more vital to talk about. The truth is, no vital issues have developed, and neither of the candidates has developed a vital personality.

I suspect that neither of them is going to develop any personality that the American public will regard as vital. Neither of them has it in him to satisfy the present American appetite for personality. We have grown accustomed to strong personalities in this country. For twenty years there have been three men with the capacity to attract votes from one party to the other. Of these three Roosevelt and Wilson and Bryan are politically out of things.

We Go Back a Century

No one could deny the personality of these men. You might or might not like the kind of personality, but the quantity of it you had to concede.
The passing of these men is the passing of an era. We are back into the last century, in Harding we are back to McKinley, Garfield and Rutherford
B. Hayes. For Cox, we have no precedent among the Presidents. Cox is a smart fellow, bent on success, financial, political and otherwise.

However, for adequate consideration of the personalities of the two candidates, we must wait until there is more time for reflection. For the present, the public need only be warned to wait until the time for more mature consideration has come.
Don't swallow the syrupy stuff that is being poured out just now.

People are Indifferent

The present phase of the campaign and expressed with perfect accuracy
the other day by the New York World. It was a curiously dispassionate utterance to come from the violently partisan, and which on the nine times of ten occasions when it is Democratic is commonly accepted as the leading Democratic organ of the country.

"Thus far," said the World, "there has been little popular interest in the Presidential campaign. A great deal of noise has been made by professional politicians, but the great mass of the American people are neither talking about politics nor thinking about politics. For the time being they are indifferent to both candidates. Senator Harding's speech of acceptance satisfied nobody except the reactionaries and the bitter-end opponents of the League of Nations, and to the American people as a whole Gov. Cox is still an unknown quantity. They have not yet had the opportunity to take his measure. Whether or not there is to be a real and vital interest in the campaign will depend on Gov.
Cox. He can quicken it into life or he can turn it into a colorless contest between two Ohio politicians, engaged in trying to sneak into the White House through a cellar window."

Cox Yet to be Tested

All this is minutely true. Until we have had a chance to digest Gov.
Cox's acceptance speech, and until public has had a chance to see him on the stump we shall not know whether he has any capacity either to create great issues or to make the impression of a marked personality.

For the present, lacking weightier issues, both Harding and Cox have a good deal to say at each other about the other fellow's campaign contributions. Senator Harding is charging the Democrats with getting, or being about to get, large sums of money from the "international bankers" to finance his campaign.

These are the same international bankers who less than two months ago were being charged by the Democratic leaders and the Democratic papers with pulling the wires that dominated the Republican Convention. The international bankers seem to catch it coming and catch it going.
The truth is the international bankers had less access to the forces which dominated the Republican convention than the office boy. And the equal truth is that if any international bankers are disposed to give money
to the Democratic campaign fund,

Chairman George White would very much like to know the address of these sources of benevolence, for on the day this is written Mr. White is scurrying about New York trying to get money together to meet the payroll.

Democrats are Broke

The Democrats are broke. The Democratic leaders talk about this condition as if it were a thing to be proud of. They regard an empty treasury as a virtue. But the fact is that the Democrats are not any more virtuous than the Republicans
—they are merely less business-like.
The Republicans have money because they handled things with business-like qualities and business-like qualities include forehandedness.

The fact is that in the four years since 1916, the Democratic National Committee has received and spent more money than the Republican National Committee. Starting with empty treasuries at the close of the 1916 campaign, the Democrats have taken in since that date a little over two million dollars, and the Republicans have taken in and spent a little less. But the Democrats have managed things in a much less business-like way.

In the first place, the Democrats ended the 1916 campaign with a considerable deficit, and it took them
some months to collect enough money to overcome that. Then the Democrats embarked on a most ambitious scheme of money collecting.
They hired three floors in a business building at Washington, and installed a plant not unlike the head offices of a big corporation. They had clerical help by the score, they had a dozen printing presses and over a hundred electric typewriters. They undertook to make a card index of the twenty or thirty leading Democrats in every one of the 103,000 election precincts in the country. They undertook to classify all these Democrats according to the quantity of their earthly possessions, their incomes, and the degree of their susceptibility to appeals for money. It was intended to be, and it would have been, an efficient permanent system for collecting campaign funds from year to year.

The scheme was started and was kept going for a year or two. Fully half a million dollars was invested in it. Then the persons who were in power in the party organization disapproved it and the whole investment was scrapped. That left the party without funds and without any machinery for bringing in collections.
From that time until the present the Democrats have kept going by calling a meeting of their rich friends every once in every so often, and beguiling the generous into giving or pledging money. The net of it is that the Democratic National Committee begins the campaign with nothing in the treasury and with a deficit of something over $100,000 and with considerably more due, and over due to wealthy Democrats who advanced money to tide things over.

The Republican Condition

If the Republicans are in better shape than this—and they are—it is merely because they are more businesslike and forehanded. The Republican National Committee, under the management of Will Hays, is conducted with keen devotion to business principles. The Republicans don't allow deficits to accumulate.
They either have the money, or know where it is coming from, before they spend it.

In another respect, the Republicans have been more efficient than the Democrats. The Democrats have just changed their national chairman. A new chairman comes along without any experience in managing the organization. He must get together the funds necessary to run the campaign, and must do it quickly because the election is less than three months away. He can hardly do it.
It is a physical impossibility to get an effective machine under way in proper time. The Republicans, however, were much more forehanded.

More than six months ago the Republicans had an informal agreement among themselves to the effect that no matter who the candidate should be, Will Hays should be the national chairman. The result was that Will Hays was able to look forward and plan. Hewas able to lay out a skeleton organization, and within a week after the Republican convention he was able to have an efficient machine
working in perfect order.

Party Expenditures

Doubtless a good deal will be said about money as the campaign goes on. Mr. McAdoo declares that there must be pitiless publicity for all contributions. That is sound enough, but broadly speaking, an experienced reporter is not able to get as excited about this matter of money contribution as the politicians try to make the public believe they are. Broadly speaking, both parties and all politicians get as much money together as they can. If the Republicans get more it is only because they go about the collecting of it in a more business like way. The facts will show that the Democrats have received and have spent more money in the past four years than the Republicans have.

Incidentally it is a curious fact that Mr. Cox is the first millionaire who ever received the Presidential nomination from either party. If the information which the newspapermen receive from Gov. Cox's neighbors and associates is correct, he could chip in a million dollars or so to the Democratic campaign fund, without being embarrassed to meet next months rent. No other candidate for President in recent years had anything near that much money. Wilson entered the Presidency without any money whatever. When Taft left the Presidency he was rather relieved to get the assured salary of a professorship at Yale. Roosevelt died worth something over a half a million dollars, but more than half of that came to him after he had left the Presidency. McKinley was practically a penniless man, Bryan was penniless when he began to run for the presidency, and Bryan has not as much money now as people commonly think he has. You could go a long way back before finding a presidential candidate as comfortable financially as Cox has made himself
during the past few years.

RANDOM NOTES

SOCIAL : PERSONAL MENTION : CLUBS

An extremely pretty affair of the mid-summer was a "garden tea," given by Miss Ruth Tanquary Friday afternoon in honor of her guest, Miss Lucille Parrett, of Greenfield.

Thirty girls grouped around the tea table, placed on the lawn and daintily appointed and attractive with decorations of yellow garden flowers.

Miss Mary Jane Durant poured. Indoors tasteful baskets of flowers graced the rooms and exquisitely rendered piano numbers by Miss Lorie King drew the guests inside to enjoy the beauty of the music.

The afternoon's diversion included two contests, "Love in the Kitchen" and "Jiggs and Maggie," both highly entertaining—the head prizes were won by Miss Mary Brown and Miss Mabel Sunkle, the consolation prizes going to the honor guest and Miss Jane Durant.

Assisting in the delightful hospitalities of the afternoon were Mrs. O. E. Tanquary, Miss Jeanette Haver, and two winsome little girls, Mary Theresa Morris and Ada Kathryn Anders. Miss Parrett was wearing a lovely summer gown of pink organdie and the attractive young hostess a gown of white swiss, dotted with pink, combined with organdie.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hosier, in Rawlings street, was the scene of two delightful social affairs this week.

On Thursday afternoon Mrs. Hosier pleasantly entertained three tables of Bridge, Mrs. Jesse Blackmer assisting in the hospitalities.

Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. Hosier filled the roles of cordial host and hostess to six tables of "500" their guests chiefly members of the old "500" club and their husbands.

Gladioli and golden glow were prettily used in decorating the rooms and small vases of white panicleata and golden glow adorned the card tables for the serving of a delicious reception.

Mrs. A. W. Duff assisted the hostess Friday evening.

Visions of summertime, loveliness were the guests who attended the pretty afternoon party given Wednesday by Miss Mildred Pritchard at her home on Fourth street, complimentary to Misses Ferry Foster of Mechanicsburg, and Doris Willis, of Washington C. H. Bowls and vases of dwarf summer flowers, roses, golden rod and other flowers of many colors tastefully arranged about the attractive home, were a foil to the dainty frocks of the young women. Sprightly piano music for dancing was furnished by Misses Helen Keyes, Ann Semans and Lilian Matthews, accompanied by Sylvan Jackson on the banjo.

Three tables of five hundred enjoyed an afternoon at cards.

Mrs. Stanley R. Pritchard was assisted in serving refreshments by Mrs. John Dillen.—Portsmouth Times.

The wedding of Miss Hortense Darbyshire, of Sabina, and Mr. Estel Badger, of Bloomingburg, took place at the home of the parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Darbyshire, at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Badger, and the bride is a former teacher in the Sedalia schools. The newly-weds will be at home in Bloomingburg after September 1.—Madison County Democrat.

Punctuating the unusual birthday milestone of eighty-six years, attained in equally unusual health and activity by Mr. B. M. Holcomb, Mrs. J. N. Riley, the daughter with whom Mr. Holcomb makes his home, entertained with a family dinner at noon Friday.

The dinner was an elaborate one of numerous courses and delightful in every way—a complete surprise to Mr. Holcomb.

Gladioli and golden, in artistic arrangement, formed a beautiful table center piece and the flowers which grow in such luxuriance at the Riley gardens, added to the attraction of the home, and were especially enjoyed during the afternoon of pleasurable visiting on the lawn.

The numeral six has been attended with special significance in Mr. Holcomb's life. His natal day on the sixth; his children numbering six, and six grandchildren and six great-grandchildren rounding out the family circle. By strange coincidence Mr. Holcomb's twin daughter and son, Mrs. J. S. Morrow, of Waukegan, Ills., and Mr. W. E. Holcomb of Delaware, celebrate the same birthday. The family circle assembled for the dinner included the twin daughter and son, the latter's wife, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Dial, also a daughter; Mrs. Owen Riley, daughter, Anabel, Mr. and Mrs. John Dial and son Billy, and Mr. and Mrs. Riley and daughter, Miss Louella, who assisted in extending the hospitality of the home.

The Chi Delta Chi Club annual picnic is always a marked occasion in the club calendar, and this year, fully up to the standard, was held at the Hagler farm on the Jamestown pike, all day Friday.

After the picnic spread at noon, the girls made plans for the coming year, and pledged three new members, Misses Florence Sshadel, Mary Brown and Kathryn McLean.

The Chi Deltas enjoying the picnic were: Misses Helen Baker, Helen McKee, Helen Durant, Charlene Tharp, Elanore Jones, Marjorie Klever, Florence Bliss, Ruth and Mary Hagler, Elizabeth McDonald, and guest Lenora Wright of Chicago, Jessie Sunkle and guest, Mildred Long of Zanesville.

The C. W. B. M. of the Christian church spent a most enjoyable day Thursday at the beautiful country home of Mrs. C. O. Deer, on the Snow Hill pike. The members of the society and their friends motored out and a picnic dinner spread on long table on the lawn was greatly enjoyed.

After this the regular monthly meeting of the society was held and the business session preceding the following program in charge of the president, Mrs. Vandungy.

A. R. STOKESBURY TELLS OF LAND ON RIO GRANDE

Interesting and Instructive Letter From Our Fellow Townsman.

Now a Landowner in the Famous Valley Near the Border.

The following very interesting letter has just been received by The Herald from Mr. A. R. Stokesbury now in Texas looking after his farming interests in that "garden spot."

The letter is so good, so full of interesting information—says so much in such a few words—that, believing it will interest all Herald readers, we are taking the liberty of publishing it without asking for consent.

Mr. Stokesbury says: Mercedes, Texas, Aug. 3, 1920.

"At this time I can only write you very briefly and will first say I send you today by parcel post an ear of corn of average size from a field just across the road from our truck ranch. The production per acre and average for the Valley will probably exceed our splendid Fayette. Every ear is perfectly matured and the fodder is deeper than the oft-mentioned mackerel. It is being gathered, marketed, and used. Corn can now be planted again and matured in December, but the production is light.

"The Cotton is showing its first bloom from Texarkana to Houston which I reached at 7 p. m., but not well—at 7 a. m. next morning at places west and south of Corpus Christi from twenty to fifty wagon heaped high with the whitest, cleanest fibre were waiting at each gin. The quality seems unusually good this year in this section. The rush here is over as ginning began in June with one bale per acre production.

"Monday was spent up on the Adams and West Tracts under the American Rio Grande Land and Water Co., system, the greatest in the Valley and it is remarkable the number of new homes from shacks to attractive bungalows erected since last winter and now in course of construction. When we pulled up for dinner and sought the old fashioned wash pan at the back kitchen door on one side of which the mercury unselfishly registered 99 degrees and on the other side as a sort of horse-shoe-good-luck affair there was an 8-penny nail-central-body support for an ill-fated tarantula fully as large as a dollar and a quarter. After dinner and before starting for further observation the shade temperature was 102 degrees but to be perfectly fair there is a salt breeze from the Gulf and a shade location is no more oppressive to me than back home. The evenings and nights are delightful and to balance the draw-backs in transportation and surplus heat, I believe it to be the healthiest section of the country I've been in. I've seen no flies or mosquitoes.

This city of Mercedes has nice homes and good people, limited number of modern hotel rooms for transients during winter and the eating places are common. I may pass you a line later. Respectfully, A. R. STOKESBURY, Mercedes, Texas.

FAYETTE TEAMS ARE ALL BOOKED

Fayette county's baseball calendar is just about filled again this week end with practically every team primed and ready to go against a worthy opponent. The ball starts rolling in this city with the Washington Athletics battling the Mabley and Carew team of the K. I. O. League of Cincinnati at Sunnyside Park.

Good Hope has booked both Saturday and Sunday games and Saturday afternoon goes to Greenfield to meet the Greenfield semipro. Sunday afternoon Good Hope and the Manhattan Reds of this city are booked to play on the Good Hope diamond. Next Sunday the Good Hope team will journey to Summit where they will play the Summit baseball club, it is announced by Manager Frank Grubbs.

Danville has been selected as an opponent by the Arcade Club of this city and Manager Groover states that he will use Hartman, former Athletic, in the box in an effort to bring home the bacon. The game will be played at Danville Sunday afternoon at 2:30.

Milledgeville goes over to Madison county for their Sunday game where they will tangle with the strong Sedalia nine. Milledgeville lost a hard 5 to 4 contest to Sabina last week end and they are expecting to make up for the loss although in the former meeting of Milledgeville and Sedalia the Midway boys were attached to the major portion of a 17 to 4 result.

For once this season Jeffersonville did not book a Sunday game mainly because of the Jeffersonville Chautauqua which all Jefferson township fans were desirous of attending. No effort was made to book an out of town game. August 22nd, Sabina plays at Jeffersonville, the Springfield All-Stars meet the Tigers on September 5 with Derby celebrating Labor Day on the Tiger grounds and September 19th the Tigers travel to Derby. All other dates are open.

JEFFERSONVILLE CHAUTAUQUA ON

Jeffersonville's chautauqua formally opened Saturday afternoon for six days, and some of the best talent booked by the Redpath Bureau is listed for the week.

A large audience attended the initial session Saturday afternoon and enjoyed the Dunbar Bell Ringers.

The advance ticket sale has been unusually heavy and the greatest chautauqua ever held at Jeffersonville is in prospect.

SUMMARY FOR CORN AND WHEAT REGION

Showers, mostly light, have occurred during the past 24 hours in the upper Mississippi Valley, the Dakotas and extreme western portions of Kansas and Oklahoma. The temperature has risen slightly from Kansas and Nebraska eastward and fallen in the far Northwest.

Weekly weather and crop report for the Ohio Section for the week ending August 3, 1920. Notwithstanding the rainfall was insufficient in some sections and the weather was unseasonably cool, especially at night, corn continued to make good growth and is now in a very satisfactory condition, except on uplands in limited areas where there is some firing and also some root rot. All other growing crops, including gardens and pastures, are as a rule doing well although rain would be very beneficial in many sections of the state. Harvesting, threshing and haying progressed rapidly under very favorable conditions. The tobacco crop is coming into top rather short and in places being damaged by root rot.

Summary of weather and crop conditions in the corn and wheat region for the week ending August 3, 1920.

Washington, D. C. August 4, 1920.—The temperatures were below normal in central and eastern districts and above normal in the far Northwest with considerable sunshine except in the Northeast; the rainfall varied from very light to none except locally in a few districts where it was heavy. Corn needs rain badly in central, northern and extreme western sections and warmer weather in eastern districts. The crop is in a satisfactory condition in much of the South and in good to excellent condition in those parts of the Great Plains States where there was sufficient moisture.

The moderate rains that fell in Missouri, Arkansas and eastern Kansas were very beneficial. Excellent progress was made with the harvesting and threshing of grain. Spring wheat was badly damaged by rust in north-central states and by high temperatures and lack of moisture in the far North west. Pastures need rain badly in many central and western districts. The weather was mostly favorable to sugar beets, sugar cane, haying and cultivation. Potatoes and gardens

ONLY PASTEURIZED MILK
: : IS SAFE TO USE : :

Hot Days and Cool Nights; Typhoid Season

It stands everyone in hand to be doubly careful at this season of the year. The next few weeks are those when typhoid is most prevalent.

It is well to remember also that Fresh Milk is the easiest of all foods to become contaminated from outside sources. Milk readily absorbs impurities when not properly handled or kept.

Not much chance with the Milk from our dairy. If perchance it became infected with bacteria after production, our method of pasteurization and immediately sealing in sterilized bottles would make it absolutely safe.

It is well also to remember that no other Milk so handled is offered to Washington consumers.

Lowe's

Cost of Barn Paint
A new way to figure it

Take a pencil and paper in one hand, and put down the cost per gallon. Take a brush and a half pint can of any paint. Now paint the side of your barn as far as the paint will go. Then measure the space, and mark it down.

Now take a half pint can of Lowe Brothers' Barn Paint, and do the same thing. In doing it, compare the ease with which Lowe's spreads on, and how thoroughly it covers. Take particular notice of how you can brush it out so much farther than the other paint.

Now measure the space Lowe's covered. Compare it with the other.

Then consider the reputation of Lowe's, with its half a century of paint making back of it, to back it up. After which, if you don't paint all your barns with Lowe Brothers' Barn Paint, it will be because of some reason all your own, that you don't want as good a paint as your money will buy.

Come in and get a color card. It's free.

MANY ATTEND COX NOTIFICATION

Democrats of Fayette county, to the number of more than one hundred, formed the delegation of Cox Boosters to go from this city to Dayton Saturday morning at eight o'clock to attend notification ceremonies of the Democratic Presidential Nominee Governor James M. Cox, at the Montgomery County Fair Grounds.

Somewhere around sixteen or eighteen cars formed the local delegation which left the Court House at the appointed hour. Drivers included were, C. U. Armstrong, Thomas Walls, D. B. Wilhite, John Alkire, W. W. Wilson, Horace C. Ireland, William Hardway, Charles Johnson, Martin Cox, Ernest Crouse.

Entire list was not available because of the fact that some cars did not stop at the Court House but kept on moving towards Dayton with their passengers.

The Washington Band in full force formed part of the delegation.

Many went over the Baltimore & Ohio while others motored through in private parties.

CARPENTER SURE OF WINNING MATCH

Ray Carpenter, clever mat man of Lancaster, Ohio, who has been seen in action in this city and has always left a favorable impression for his work, has written to the effect that he is sure of defeating Fisher when they come together in this city Tuesday night of the coming week.

Fisher, who recently showed his strength here and defeated his opponent, is equally confident that Carpenter will be an easy man for him to handle, although the two have never seen each other in action.

Considerable interest centers in the six rounds of boxing which will form the preliminary.

OH MY STOMACH

"I had stomach trouble so badly that nothing I ate would digest as it should," said Sadie E. Hamilton, Portland, Me., as she began a remarkable story of the relief she has secured from Argo-Phosphate, the new reconstructive, stomach tonic and system purifier.

"Everything that I ate would lie in my stomach like a lump," she explained. "Gas would form and I would suffer distress all the time. I got so I could hardly keep any thing down. Trying to get relief, I had my stomach pumped out, but even this did not help me as I continued just as bad."

"I kept hearing so much about Argo-Phosphate that I thought maybe it might help me and I decided to try it. I have taken two bottles and to my surprise I am already feeling fine. I can eat anything and I am not troubled at all."

"I am completely rid of my old stomach trouble that I had for three years. I have not felt so well for years and I am certainly glad to endorse Argo-Phosphate because I want others to be helped by this wonderful medicine."

"The spirit of wanting to help others is what makes suffering men and women give these splendid public endorsements of Argo-Phosphate," said a local druggist.

With interest in wireless again coming to the front since the Government has removed its hand from the private plants of the country there has been a stir among the high school lads to equip the city with a modern wireless outfit. An Artistic Roof for Your Home—

The possibilities for artistic treatment afforded by this modern roofing have thus far been but partially developed. The different colors, shapes, sizes and thicknesses of the Johns-Manville Transite Asbestos Shingle, and the opportunities to vary methods of laying to obtain distinct and attractive roof effects, prove this a rich field for study.

Nor is it difficult to foresee the time when inflammable roofings will be generally prohibited by law, as evidenced by many recent city ordinances.

In Johns-Manville Transite Asbestos Shingles you can have a distinctive roof, free from the threat of communicated fire. It will neither burn, rot, nor demand periodic and costly repairs. Johns-Manville Transite Asbestos Shingles are examined, approved, and labeled by the Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc., under the direction of the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

Let us show you samples and quote prices.

EXAMS ARE UNDERWAY IN SUMMER SCHOOL

Final examinations are being given to the thirty-three students of the Y. M. C. A. Summer School and this week will bring the six weeks course in vacation schooling to a close.

Grades will be given out Monday and the credits earned will be given official recognition. Diplomas in the shape of blanks constructed by High School Principal O. K. Probasco will serve as records of the work when the students re-enter high school for the fall term.

The school has met with exceptional success and including the religious classes many of those enrolled have been able to gain from a one half credit to two credits in their high school work.

NOTICE

The annual Parrett reunion will be held at the Spring Grove Church near Parretts Station, Thursday, August 12, 1920.
